

FleetCor Appoints New Global CIO

March 19, 2012

Former Fiserv Executive Named to Post

ATLANTA--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Mar. 19, 2012-- FleetCor Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: FLT), a global leader in fuel card and specialty payments to businesses announced today the appointment of Van Williams to the position of Global CIO.

The Global CIO has responsibility for all FleetCor IT systems (including GFN) and infrastructure / security worldwide.

"I think we found an outstanding fit in Van," said Ron Clarke, Chairman and CEO of FleetCor. "Van is a very experienced development guy, and a payments guy, and has spent the majority of his career in mid-size companies like ours."

Williams, an accomplished IT executive, has served in increasingly responsible roles for Fiserv for the last 15 years. He's held divisional CIO roles at Fiserv and led development of large, complex development projects.

"I'm really delighted to be joining FleetCor," said Williams. "We have the opportunity to make FleetCor's GFN fuel card system a global industry platform adopted by major oil companies the world over. That's very exciting."

Van will be based in Atlanta, and will report to FleetCor Chairman and CEO, Ron Clarke.
